| There are no public service channels in the sense that is known in Europe or America. But all linear commercial services are owned by a wholly-owned government-owned company; some of the channels carry programming paid for by the government. Two of the channels are subsidised by the government in the sense that they carry programming for the minority language communities of Tamily and Malay but because their advertising revenue does not cover their programming costs, subsidies help partially cover the difference. |   |  |  |

But some parties that were impacted by such enforcement challenged in court based on the Free Speech clause of the First Amendment to the US Constitution. The US Supreme Court ruled that such regulation was a free speech violation in important precedents such as Red Lion v. FCC (1969) and Miami Herald v. Tornillo (1974). The FCC discontinued all regulation of this type in 2000.   | Formerly: Federal Communications Commission (FCC)  | Formerly: Federal Communications Commission (FCC)  | Formerly: Federal Communications Commission (FCC)  |

| The Broadcasting Authority of Ireland (BAI) was established on October 1, 2009 following the enactment of the Broadcasting Act of 2009, replacing the Broadcasting Commission of Ireland and the Broadcasting Complaints Commission as the regulator of public and commercial broadcasting in Ireland. As the BAI has only recently been set up, its website has not been populated fully with the details of its activities, obligations and enforcement activities. Therefore, the majority of the information provided in relation to the Irish regulator's previous activities and its current obligations has been taken from the legacy regulators' sites. In the absence of confirmation from the BAI, we have assumed that this information remains accurate and relevant for the BAI. |  |  |                       |   |
